

Robert "Lance" Hunter

April 28, 1980 - November 4, 2025

Robert "Lance" Hunter, born April 28th, 1980, in Fort Worth, Texas, passed away on November 4th, 2025.

Lance grew up in North Richland Hills with his parents, Julie and Paul Hunter, and later moved to Austin after attending the University of Texas. Austin became his lifelong home and the perfect place for his creative, kind and generous spirit to shine.

Those who knew Lance will always remember his thoughtfulness. His love language was gift giving – he delighted in surprising his friends and family with presents that were always personal, meaningful, and full of heart. He had a quick wit, a brilliant mind, and a deeply caring soul.

Lance worked for Apple for over a decade before joining Oracle as a coder. When his position went fully remote during Covid, he happily returned to Austin, the city he loved most. Outside of work Lance found joy in performing arts, comedy workshops, and the vibrant energy of events like Burning Man. He truly embodied the spirit of "Keep Austin Weird".

He was preceded in death by his grandparents, June and Bobbie Lambert, his grandfather Larry Hunter, and great grandmothers Ruby Smith and Illa Mae Pollard.

Lance is survived by his parents, Paul Hunter, Julie Hunter and her husband Jim McKnight; his brother Trent Hunter and wife Courtney; his sister Debbie McKnight; his beloved grandmother Nelda Hunter; and many aunts, uncles, cousins, and friends who will forever cherish his memory.

Lance's life was a reminder to be kind, give generously, and live authentically. He will be deeply missed and always loved.
